

Developing Resilience, Persistence...GRIT

Academic preparedness is essential for postsecondary success. However, there are other factors that play an integral role in success in and beyond the classroom. Research shows that students who possess GRIT are more likely to succeed in achieving academic and life goals.

DRPG is appropriately customized for teachers of any grade level. It is never too early to foster resilience, persistence, and GRIT!

Professional Development Offerings:

Educator Version

This professional development provides information and ready-to-use classroom modules for fostering characteristics supporting resilience, persistence, and GRIT.

Parent Version

This 2-hour workshop provides information and strategies parents can use with their students to foster resilience, persistence, and GRIT at home.

For more information, contact:

Dr. Terry Lashley
(865) 249-7607
terry.lashley@southeast.edu

